

PRIVACY POLICY

Use of Information

Personal information (defined as any personally identifiable information such as your name, address, etc) will be processed by Sonne N.V. (including its agents and employees), and where appropriate, we will provide you with a full range of services under the sonne.bet brand.

We may occasionally wish to contact you by email with information on promotional offers (such as bonuses), technical updates, and new site features. If you wish to unsubscribe, please correct this in the My Account/Other Settings page accordingly. Alternatively, this can be done by contacting Customer Support. You may also select the "Click this link to unsubscribe" option at the foot of any email you receive from us to prevent any future promotional marketing from being sent to you via email.

Cookies

Cookies are small text files stored in your browser that we use to recognize your computer when you access our website. Cookies play a major role in ensuring that certain sections of our website also use them to speed up, simplify, and personalize the operations of our websites. They are used, inter alia, to determine how exactly our websites are being used. They can also be used to provide targeted advertising content.

To fulfill these functions, cookies collect personal information about you every time you access the website. It is your choice whether you allow or deny some or all types of cookies (the behavior is controlled by the browser settings of your device). We will inform you about this option by displaying a "cookie banner" when you first access our website. If you continue to use our website without changing your cookie settings, we will assume you accept the use of cookies according to their descriptions in the next section. To help you make an informed choice, you must understand the reasons cookies are used, as well as their importance for how the internet works. This section provides a short description of the main cookie parameters, and also examples of working with different types of these files and how they influence website operations.

The cookies we use can be divided into the following categories:

Required cookies.

These are essential to the operation of our websites.

These cookies are required to transfer you between our websites and complete authorization in protected zones. They also allow us to offer content optimized for your browser.

Without these cookies, you will not be able to place bets or access your Account. Therefore, if you refuse to allow these cookies, some sections of our website will not work properly or not work at all.

1. Error-free navigation between our websites.
2. Adapting content to match your device and browser, including images.
3. Saving your authorization in the system so you don't need to reauthorize every time you access the website.
4. Streaming data without having to constantly adjust volume and viewing settings.

Security Cookies

As a betting company, we have certain specific legal obligations we must adhere to. In accordance with the law, we are obligated to make all possible efforts to counteract fraud and the legalization of gambling, the financing of terrorism, and the financing of terrorism. These cookies help us protect our customers and our activities, monitor the authenticity of data provided by our customers, prevent repeated registration of unauthorized users, and prevent unauthorized access to the betting accounts of other customers. They also help us identify suspicious activity that may signify an attempt to commit fraud, legalize (launder) illegal funds, and other illegal activities or violations of our partnership conditions.

Without these cookies, you will not be able to use our websites. If you do not wish to accept these cookies, you should close your betting account and not use any of our Services.

Functional cookies

These cookies allow our websites to save information that you enter, such as your betting account number, region, or added bet slip selections. They also help us save your authorization in the system and provide you with access to various functions, including, for example, the ability to change your email and password. Furthermore, we use these cookies to customize our website content for each user, for example, to display the latest promos, give access to information on social media (Twitter, etc.), or create links to relevant articles containing the information you request.

If you disable these cookies, you can still use the website, but you will encounter issues when using specific functions and will have to reauthorize every time you migrate from one website to another or when you access important content (for example, price increases).

Analytical cookies

These cookies collect data about the usage of our websites and their productivity, for example, the number of visitors, most popular pages, and error message displays. They also allow us to fulfill our legal obligations and to provide targeted advertising to our advertising partners, who redirect users to us. Without these cookies you can still use our website. Analytical cookie usage examples:

1. Determination of website usage tendencies.

2. Support to keep content new and up to date.
3. Accounting for website traffic, and page view numbers, and study the effectiveness of content and communications.
4. Improved app and website operations.

Targeting cookies

These cookies are used to show ads and information tailored specifically to you. They are also used to limit the volume of views of each message and measure the effectiveness of ad campaigns. cookies save about your website visit to other organizations for advertising purposes. We also use them to test and optimize our products and Services, for example, to monitor the use of certain categories to determine the most popular.

Without these cookies, you will be able to use all the functions of our websites, but the ads you see may not match your interests.

Managing cookies

All modern browsers allow you to see which cookies are installed, and erase them selectively or entirely by changing the settings. Cookie settings are often located in the Options or Preferences specific information, consult the Help section of your browser. Below are some useful links:
