for the year ending December 31, 2023

(1) Significant accounting policies

a) Basis of Accounting

The financial statements of the Company has been prepared in accordance with applicable accounting principles.
Assets and liabilities have been recognized against historical costs and stated at their nominal value, unless mentioned otherwise.

b) Revenue recognition

Sales Revenue represents the commission income. Revenue is recognized in the statement of financial performance on an accrual basis.

c) Foreign Currencies

Transactions denominated in other currencies are translated into EUR at the average exchange rates prevailing during each month. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies at the balance sheet date are reported at the exchange rates prevailing at that date.
Any realized gain or loss arising from a change in exchange rate is included as financial gains or losses in the Income Statements.

d) Taxation

Profit tax is accounted for using the taxes payable method. The profit tax expense charge to the statement of financial performance is the estimated tax payable for the current year, adjusted for any differences between the estimated and actual tax payable in prior years.

e) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash and deposits held at banks.
