

Target Markets

Instructions

The applicant to confirm if Peru is a target market and if so if it has obtained an opinion from a suitably qualified and competent local lawyer concerning the legality of making remote wagering supplies and the legitimate movement of monies/crypto to and from this jurisdiction (and to supply such opinion to the CGA) and if not, the risk rationale of not so doing.

The Applicant confirms that Peru is not currently considered a target market.

While Peru had previously been identified as a jurisdiction of potential commercial interest during the Applicant's preliminary market assessment, the Applicant has subsequently determined not to pursue Peru as a target market at this stage. Accordingly, the Applicant does not actively promote, market, or otherwise direct its remote wagering services to persons located in Peru.

On that basis, the Applicant has not obtained a local legal opinion in respect of Peru concerning the legality of making remote wagering supplies or the movement of monies or crypto-assets to and from that jurisdiction. The Applicant considers that obtaining such opinion is not required at this time, given that Peru is not within the Applicant's approved target market scope.

The Applicant will continue to monitor its commercial strategy and applicable regulatory requirements. Should Peru be reconsidered as a target market in the future, the Applicant will obtain appropriate advice from suitably qualified local counsel prior to commencing any targeted activity in that jurisdiction.
