Extensive experience working in the financial markets coupled with a background in the E-gaming industry.

I started working in 2011 at the insurance company “Unison”. After 2 years at “Unison”, I would move to “AGIC” as a financial consultant. There, I “advised on whether to buy stocks or not” and “forecasted revenue and cost reports”. In addition, “identification of market trends”, “management of current and future tax payments” were also part of my job description. After 3 years at “AGIC” I would move to “Gazelle Finance” as an investment analyst. My time at “AGIC” offered a balanced insight into the financial markets and products.

My work at Gazelle Finance as an investment analyst included “analyzing respective cash flows”, “collect information on developments of financial products”, and the “interpretation of financial reports and the preparation of summaries”. Lastly, I would monitor all investments. My time at “Gazelle” would cement my understanding of the financial markets and products. While working at Gazelle, I would come into contact with the then relatively new and booming industry “E-Gaming”. This would spark a deeply vested interest for the industry, after 3 years at “Gazelle” I would decide to pursue this curiosity. I would leave “Gazelle” in 2017 to pursue a new career in the E-Gaming industry at “Ableton Prestige Global Limited”.

While working at “Ableton Prestige Global Limited”, my job description was the CFO & Gaming License Analyst. My tasks included “advising top management in stock offerings and the execution of these processes”. Following, I assisted in the “completion of license application for E-gaming regulators”. The types of licenses I was involved in included Principal, corporate and occupational licenses. Lastly, I was also tasked with control and management of the financial actions of “Ableton”. My time at “Ableton”, gave me the opportunity to understand the E-Gaming industry from the inside out, from a stakeholder’s perspective. I acquired a deep understanding on how to comply with Egaming regulators, and the ever-changing dynamic of the industry. This would further fuel my interest for the E-Gaming industry, leading me to start my own venture in 2022, “StableTech”.

At “StableTech” I am the founder and CEO. currently I am still working at “Ableton Prestige Global Limited”. At StableTech, our mission is to provide unparalleled E-Gaming services to individuals that is safe, fun and in accordance with both national & international legislations, while adhering to the various AML & CTF procedures. Our Vision is to become one of the best service providers in the industry, while providing a high level of transparency and safety to our clients.
