Cookies Policy

We aim to give you the best service and user experience at all times. One way we deliver this is through the use of Cookies.

What is a “Cookie”?

A Cookie, also known as a browser or tracking cookie, sends a small piece of information sent by a web server to a web browser, which enables the server to collect information from the browser. When you load a particular website, cookies are created, and every time the user goes back to the same website, the browser retrieves and sends collected information to the website's server.

Cookies are used to help customers navigate websites efficiently and perform certain functions. Due to their core role in enhancing/enabling usability or site processes, disabling cookies may prevent customers from using certain functions of websites.

How We use Cookies

For visitors to our websites, we use cookies to collect information. Our servers use three different types of cookies:

A ‘session-based’ cookie: This type of cookie is only allocated to your computer for the duration of your visit to our website. A session-based cookie helps you move around our website faster and, if you’re a registered customer, it allows us to give you information that is more relevant to you. This cookie automatically expires when you close your browser.

A ‘persistent’ cookie: This type of cookie will remain on your computer for a period of time set for each cookie. Flash cookies are also persistent.

‘Analytical’ cookies: This type of cookie allows us to recognize and count the number of visitors to our sites and see how visitors use our services. These help us improve the way our sites work, for example, by ensuring you can find what you are looking for easily.

You have the ability to accept or decline cookies. Most web browsers automatically accept cookies, but if you prefer, you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies. The Help menu on the menu bar of most browsers will tell you how to prevent your browser from accepting new cookies, how to have the browser notify you when you receive a new cookie, and how to disable cookies altogether.

You can modify your Flash Player settings to prevent the use of flash cookies. The Settings Manager of your Flash Player allows you to manage your preferences. To disallow flash cookies from all third-party content, go to the ‘Global Storage Settings’ panel of the Settings Manager and deselect the checkbox labeled ‘Allow third-party flash content to store information on your computer’ and close the Settings Manager. Alternatively, you can also adjust your settings for specific websites you visit through the ‘Website Storage Settings’ panel, which is also found in the Settings Manager.

If you are using an old version of Flash Player or an older web browser, the Settings Manager may not be available to you. We recommend that you ensure that you refresh your Flash Player and browser to the latest available versions.

If you choose to decline cookies, you may not be able to experience all of the interactive features on our sites.
