The financial data provided will help us to estimate the sales forecast and outline the anticipated expenses, ensuring a comprehensive understanding of the financial health and sustainability of the business.

The financial plan is predicated on the following key assumptions:

- Gross Gaming Revenue (GGR) Growth: An expected month-over-month increase in GGR of 10%. This is indicative of strategic market penetration and our efforts to expand our customer base and is also supported by empirical data on our daily transaction volumes.

- Cost of Sales: Payment Service Provider (PSP) fees, platform fees, bonuses, and other fees increase in proportion to GGR.
- Operating Expenses: Consideration of inflationary effects and strategic investments in marketing and technology, alongside regular operational costs will also increase in tandem with GGR, ensuring our growth is supported by necessary investments in our operations.
