Impairment of long-lived assets

Long-lived assets, other than goodwill, are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that their carrying amounts may not be recoverable. Recoverability of assets is measured by comparison of the carrying amount of the asset to the net undiscounted future cash flows expected to be generated from the asset. If the future undiscounted cash flows are not sufficient to recover the carrying value of the assets, the assets' carrying value is adjusted to fair value. The company regularly evaluates its long-lived asset for indicators of possible impairment. To date no impairment has been recorded.

Concentration of credit risk and certain other risk

Credit risk represents the accounting loss that would be recognized at the reporting date if counter parties failed to perform as contracted. The company does not have significant exposure to any individual client or counter party. Management of credit risk involves a number of considerations, such as financial profile of the counter party, specific terms and duration of the contractual agreement. There exists a risk of non-performance, however management believes that the company's exposure to credit risk associated with non-performance of its counter party is minimum.
