SDG TECH N.V. implements this Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorist Financing (“AML/CTF”) Policy through a structured and risk-based framework consisting of documented assessments, defined responsibilities, operational procedures, system controls, and ongoing oversight. The Policy is designed to ensure that identified money laundering, terrorist financing, and proliferation financing risks are effectively prevented and mitigated in a manner proportionate to the Company’s risk exposure.

The Compliance Department is responsible for the overall coordination and oversight of the implementation of this Policy, while operational responsibilities are distributed across relevant departments as described below.

5.1 Business Risk Assessment (BRA)

The Company conducts and maintains a Business Risk Assessment (“BRA”) to identify, assess, and understand the inherent and residual ML/TF risks to which it is exposed.

The BRA considers, at a minimum, the following risk factors:

- Products and services offered by the Company, including online casino and betting activities;
- Types of customers, including individual players and their behavioral patterns;
- Delivery channels, including online platforms, remote onboarding, and electronic payment methods;
- Payment methods, including fiat and cryptocurrency transactions;
- Geographical exposure, including customer location, source of funds, and cross-border activity;
- Technological risks, including system automation, remote access, and emerging technologies.

The BRA evaluates how these factors could be misused for money laundering, terrorist financing, or proliferation financing and assesses the likelihood and impact of such misuse.

Based on the outcome of the BRA, the Company determines:

- The level of ML/TF risk it is prepared to accept;
- The adequacy of existing policies, controls, and procedures;
- Any additional mitigating measures required.

The effectiveness of risk mitigation measures is monitored through transaction monitoring, internal reviews, compliance reporting, and periodic audits.

The BRA is:

- Documented in writing;
- Reviewed whenever material changes occur to the business, operating environment, or regulatory framework;
- Otherwise reviewed at least annually;
- Approved by Senior Management.

A technology risk assessment is conducted prior to the launch of any new product, business practice, delivery mechanism, or material technological change.

5.2 Customer Risk Assessment (CRA)

The Company conducts a Customer Risk Assessment (“CRA”) for each customer when establishing a business relationship.

The CRA evaluates the specific ML/TF risk posed by an individual customer, taking into account factors derived from the BRA, including but not limited to:

- Customer identity and residency;
- Source of funds and expected transaction behavior;
- Use of payment methods (including cryptocurrency);
- Transaction size, frequency, and patterns;
- PEP status and sanctions exposure;
- Geographic risk indicators.

The information collected during onboarding and ongoing monitoring is used to assign each customer a risk profile (e.g., low, standard, or high risk).

The CRA is:

- Performed at onboarding;
- Updated on an ongoing basis;
- Reviewed when trigger events occur (e.g., unusual transactions, change in behavior, threshold breaches).

5.3 Customer Acceptance Policy (CAP)

The Company applies a Customer Acceptance Policy (“CAP”) to determine whether a customer may be accepted or retained.

Based on the outcome of the CRA, the Company applies the appropriate level of customer due diligence (CDD or EDD). The CAP ensures compliance with obligations relating to:

- Politically Exposed Persons (PEPs);
- Sanctions screening;
- High-risk customer categories.

The CAP identifies customer types that may pose a higher-than-average risk and specifies circumstances under which a customer will be refused or denied access, including but not limited to:

- Inability to satisfactorily verify identity;
- Sanctions or terrorism-related exposure;
- Unacceptable source of funds;
- Failure to provide required documentation.

5.4 Customer Due Diligence (CDD)

Timing and Measures

Customer due diligence is conducted:

- At onboarding;
- When cumulative transactions reach XCG 4,000;
- When changes occur to the customer’s risk profile;
- On an ongoing basis.

CDD measures include:

- Identity verification;
- Verification of source of funds where required;
- PEP and sanctions screening;
- Enhanced Due Diligence (EDD) for higher-risk customers.

Threshold Controls

If a customer reaches XCG 4,000 in cumulative transactions and required documents have not been submitted:

- Account restrictions may be applied;
- Withdrawals may be suspended until verification is completed.

If the required information is not received within 30 days of reaching the threshold:

- The business relationship may be terminated;
- Remaining funds may be handled in accordance with legal and regulatory requirements;
- A report may be filed with the competent authority if appropriate.

Termination of Relationship

Where a business relationship is terminated due to AML/CTF concerns:

- The decision is documented;
- Access to the Platform is revoked;
- Records are retained in accordance with record-keeping requirements.

Sanctions Screening and Asset Freezing

Sanctions screening against UN and EU sanctions lists is conducted:

- At onboarding;
- On an ongoing basis.

If a positive sanctions match is identified:

- Relevant funds are frozen without delay;
- The matter is reported to the competent authorities in Curaçao;
- No transactions are processed until clearance is received.

5.5 Enhanced Due Diligence (EDD)

Enhanced Due Diligence (“EDD”) shall be applied where a customer, transaction, or business relationship presents a higher risk of money laundering or terrorist financing.

EDD shall be applied at a minimum in the following circumstances:

- High-Risk Jurisdictions
- Where a customer is resident in, connected to, or conducts transactions involving jurisdictions identified as high-risk or subject to enhanced monitoring by competent authorities or international bodies.
- Politically Exposed Persons (PEPs)
- Where a customer is identified as a Politically Exposed Person, or as a family member or close associate of a PEP.
- Crypto-Related Risks
- Where customers engage in cryptocurrency-related activity that presents elevated risk, including but not limited to:
 - High-value or high-frequency crypto transactions;
 - Use of multiple wallets or rapid movement of funds;
 - Transactions involving anonymity-enhancing technologies or services.
- Unusual Gambling Behaviour
- Where customer gambling behaviour is unusual, excessive, or inconsistent with the customer's known profile, expected activity, or declared source of funds, including patterns indicative of fund circulation or minimal gaming.
- Other High-Risk Indicators
- Where other factors identified through ongoing monitoring or risk assessment indicate a higher level of ML/TF risk.

EDD measures may include additional identity verification, enhanced source of funds analysis, senior management approval, increased transaction monitoring, or other risk-mitigating controls deemed appropriate.

5.6 Ongoing Monitoring

The Company applies ongoing monitoring to ensure customer activity remains consistent with the Company's knowledge of the customer and assessed risk profile.

Monitoring measures include:

- Review of transaction size, frequency, and patterns;
- Identification of unusual or inconsistent behavior;
- Periodic review of customer documentation and risk classification.

Ongoing monitoring is supported by automated systems and manual reviews, with escalation to the Compliance Department where necessary.

5.7 Reliance on Third Parties to Perform Customer Due Diligence

Where permitted by applicable law, the Company may rely on qualified third parties to perform certain elements of customer due diligence, such as identity verification.

Such reliance is subject to:

- Written agreements;
- Assurance that the third party applies AML/CTF standards equivalent to those required by the Company;
- The Company retaining ultimate responsibility for AML/CTF compliance.

5.8 Reporting of Unusual and Suspicious Transactions

The Company's obligation to report unusual or suspicious transactions is based on suspicion and not on monetary thresholds, in accordance with the National Ordinance on the Reporting of Unusual Transactions (NORUT, PB 2017 no. 99).

Monetary thresholds are used solely as risk indicators to trigger enhanced review, analysis, and escalation, and do not in themselves determine whether a report must be filed.

Where, following assessment, a transaction or activity is considered unusual or suspicious, a report shall be submitted regardless of the transaction amount.

5.8.1 FIU Curaçao Reporting Obligations

All unusual or suspicious transactions shall be reported to FIU Curaçao without delay via the goAML reporting system, in accordance with NORUT.

The Company strictly prohibits tipping-off, meaning that no customer or third party shall be informed that a report has been filed or is being considered.

The Company and its staff shall cooperate fully with FIU Curaçao and other competent authorities, including by providing additional information upon lawful request.

5.9 Anti-Money Laundering Compliance Program

The Company maintains a risk-based AML compliance program designed to mitigate ML/TF risks and ensure compliance with applicable laws and regulations.

The AML program includes:

- This AML/CTF Policy and supporting procedures;
- Risk assessments (BRA and CRA);
- Customer due diligence and monitoring;
- Reporting and record keeping;
- Ongoing review and improvement.

The AML program establishes minimum compliance standards across the organization and is reviewed periodically to ensure continued effectiveness.

5.10 Reliance on Third Parties for Customer Due Diligence

Where permitted under the National Ordinance on the Identification when Rendering Services (NOIS, PB 2017 no. 92), the Company may rely on third parties to perform certain elements of customer due diligence.

Such reliance shall be subject to the following conditions:

1. Immediate Access to CDD Data
2. The Company shall have immediate and unrestricted access to all underlying Customer Due Diligence (CDD) and Enhanced Due Diligence (EDD) information and documentation obtained by the third party, upon request and without delay.
3. Equivalent AML/CTF Standards
4. The third party must apply AML/CTF measures and standards that are equivalent to those required under applicable Curaçao laws and regulations.
5. Written Reliance Arrangement
6. Reliance on a third party shall be governed by a written agreement defining the scope of reliance, data access rights, and cooperation obligations.
7. Ultimate Responsibility
8. Ultimate responsibility for AML/CTF compliance remains with SGD TECH N.V.
9. Reliance on a third party does not relieve the Company or its Board of Directors of any legal or regulatory obligations.
10. The Company shall conduct ongoing oversight of any third party relied upon to ensure continued compliance with AML/CTF requirements.

5.11 Sanctions Compliance, Asset Freezing, Escalation and Reporting

The Company maintains procedures to ensure compliance with applicable financial sanctions regimes and to prevent the provision of services to sanctioned persons, entities, or jurisdictions.

The Company applies sanctions measures in accordance with applicable and relevant sanctions regimes, including but not limited to:

- United Nations (UN) sanctions lists;

Upon confirmation of a sanctions match:

- All relevant funds and assets shall be frozen without delay;
- No deposits, withdrawals, transfers, wagers, or payouts shall be processed;

The freezing of funds shall occur prior to any notification to the customer and without tipping-off.

5.11.3 Escalation and Internal Review

All sanctions matches shall be escalated immediately to the Compliance Officer / MLRO, who shall:

- Review and assess the match without delay;
- Determine whether the match is confirmed or a false positive;
- Document the assessment and decision-making process.

5.11.4 Reporting to Competent Authorities

Where a sanctions match is confirmed, the Compliance Officer / MLRO shall:

- Notify the relevant competent authorities in Curaçao without delay, as required by applicable laws and regulations;
- Cooperate fully with competent authorities, including by providing additional information upon lawful request;
- Maintain all related records in accordance with record-keeping requirements.

5.11.5 Prohibition of Tipping-Off
