Re: Source of Funds and Financial Position Statement - CODE HARBOR N.V. (the “Company”, or “We”)

Dear Members of the Curaçao Gaming Authority,

CODE HARBOR N.V. submits this letter in support of, and to clarify, the Source of Funds information contained in the attachments provided herewith. The purpose of this communication is to demonstrate in accordance with the Landsverordening op de kansspelen (National Ordinance on Games of Chance, PB 2024, no. 157, “LOK”) and the applicable CGA policies, guidelines and licence conditions the company is compliant, financially stable, reliable, transparent and verifiable, that its funds are of demonstrably legitimate origin, and that player balances are fully protected at all times. To that end, this letter sets out:

- (i) a transparent overview of the Company’ s current financial position;
- (ii) a comparison of actual performance against the approved business plan;
- (iii) a clear explanation of the observed variances; and
- (iv) the source and segregation of the funds used to operate the business.

1. Year of Formation

The company was formed in December 2023, however for operational readiness the company de facto was ready to trade only in the 1st quarter of 2024. This timing coincided with the active start of transition from sub-licensing regime to the new master licensing one. As such, the company started any kind of meaningful operations in 2025 only. 2025 for us had been a year of business establishment, during which we focused on onboarding with our regulated payment providers (Novacasp, GammaG, Gigadat and Satchel), executing agreements with service providers, and aligning our policies and operational procedures with the requirements of the LOK and the CGA' s licence conditions, including the Company' s AML/CFT framework.

Marketing activity and player acquisition were intentionally restrained until full platform readiness and compliance readiness have been confirmed. Active client acquisition was postponed to 2026.

2. Financial Performance: Actual vs. Approved Business Plan

The table below compares the figures in the Company' s approved business plan against actual results, together with the latest full-year estimate for 2026. All figures are in EUR.

Long-term projections (2027–2029) require revision to better align them with the current position of the company.

3. Explanation of Variances

The shortfall in active users and revenue against the plan is the direct and intended consequence of the marketing restraint described in Section 1. Expenses were correspondingly and tightly controlled - EUR 108,886 actual against EUR 1,567,910 planned for 2025 - with spending limited to licensing, legal and payment-processing costs, being the minimum required to maintain regulatory and operational standing. Personnel costs were deferred during this phase, with operations covered by the founders and contracted service providers. The reported 2025 net result therefore reflects disciplined cost management during a pre-launch period and is fully consistent with the Company's stated phased strategy. We are fairly certain that with the active marketing in place, we could have achieved the stated figures.

The trajectory in 2026 confirms the strategy is now converting into growth. The first five months of 2026 already show a 36% increase in active players relative to the full 2025 base with the marketing barely kicking in. On the basis of the updated business plan - supported by marketing campaigns now being launched and partner and affiliate agreements being finalized - the Company projects a material expansion of its player base for full-year 2026 and a net profit of approximately EUR 400,000*. Internal engagement data confirms growing and sustained player interest.

4. Source of Funds, Segregation and Solvency

The Company operates a strictly segregated account structure that separates player funds from corporate funds at all times. Player funds are held with the Company's regulated payment partners (Novacasp, GammaG, Gigadat and business crypto-wallet, opened with CoinsPaid on 12-th of June) in dedicated processing accounts and are never commingled with the Company's own operating funds that are handled at Satchel. All operational expenditure is met exclusively from the Company's corporate operating account (Satchel), which is funded solely by the Company's own accumulated profits and shareholder contributions when/if required. No player deposits are, or have been, used to fund the Company's operations.

The funds applied to the operation are therefore of legitimate, verifiable and lawful origin: retained earnings generated by the Company's own licensed activity and capital contributed by its shareholder, the identity and standing of whom have been disclosed to the Authority. Supporting documentation - including payment-processor statements, account balances and the corresponding Source of Wealth evidence - is provided as enclosures to permit the Authority to independently verify the origin of the funds.

Those statements and balances confirm that the Company is fully liquid and solvent and is able to meet all of its present obligations - including the full coverage of all outstanding player balances - from its own resources and without reliance on any additional external financing.

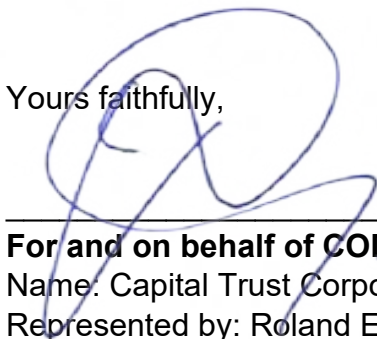

At the same time, license revocation would have an impact on the updated estimates for 2026, and most likely not in a good way. We hope for fair and quick reconsideration that would allow us to resume the operations and stay on track with the updated projections.

5. Conclusion

* - these values would require another revision given the revocation of the license.

CODE HARBOR N.V. respectfully submits that the information set out above and in the enclosures demonstrates a transparent, verifiable and reliable financial position, a lawful and fully documented source of funds, and complete protection of player balances, consistent with the requirements of the LOK and the CGA. The Company requests that the Authority give favorable consideration to these explanations and remains fully available to provide any further information or documentation the Authority may require.

Yours faithfully,

For and on behalf of CODE HARBOR N.V.
